

Trigger

Trigger level decide when acquisition and display begin. When the input signal is higher than trigger level, signal is captured and display is steady.